PILOT OF THE MONTH

★TIM ADAMS★ Tim Adams is GBA's January pilot of the month! Where do we even begin with Mr. Adams... he came into flight training with over a 90% on his written exam and asked to look into VOR navigation on his discovery flight... who is this guy?! Needless to say, Tim is pretty awesome, and he's been absolutely crushing his flight training as of late. When he's not impressing us or his flight instructor, you can find him doing anything outside (hiking, fishing, scuba diving... you name it!) or spending time with his wonderful wife. Excellent job to Tim on his progress and we can't wait to see him solo in the skies! Keep it up, Tim!

REMINDERS FOR THE UPCOMING WEEK

- Scholarships!!!!!! - Check out information on the Reno Air Race Association Scholarship at <https://airrace.org/flight-training-scholarships/> Also, stop by the office for information on other local scholarships.
- This 4-D on your weather briefs...3-D plus time. There has been some craziness out there that is sometimes not predicted too. Does graupel mean anything to you? If not, have a chat with Hailey and she will tell you all about this phenomenon.

ELLIOTT CANADAY – SOLO

Big news in the sky! Elliott (two l's and two t's so he is balanced) Canaday just joined the soloed pilot club! He spread his wings for the first time at KSPZ, runway 06, in N37JA. A true Reno native and dedicated girl dad, Elliott traded tea parties and Frozen marathons for the thrill of the skies, showcasing some seriously impressive landings and pattern work. Not just a pilot in training, Elliott's also a master of time management, balancing quality time with his amazing wife and daughter, full-time duties with the Nevada Air National Guard, and his love for flying. Oh, and let's not forget his knack for enlightening us about the joys of long C-130 flights and his undying passion for Disney on Ice! Keep up the fantastic work, Elliott! Private pilot status is just around the corner! Massive shoutout to his CFI, Grant Muzzio, for guiding him on this incredible journey through the clouds!
