REMINDERS FOR THE UPCOMING WEEK

- Don't forget about the FREE Monday night student group too! Every Monday, 6pm-8pm.

Adam Chiamulon soloed!! He beat the storm and soloed on Reno's grandest stage, KRNO, runway 17L. It's an accomplishment that showcases not only his piloting skills but also his confidence and determination flying in Class C airspace. Landing inside a 737? That's a story for the ages! It must have been an unforgettable moment for both Adam and anyone on that Southwest who had the privilege of witnessing it. Heartwarming to know that Adam is not just an ace in the cockpit but also a genuinely nice person. Giving the best hugs, working in the aviation industry, and being a frequent traveler are all ingredients that make him sound like an absolute delight to know. In an industry that relies on precision and professionalism, it's wonderful to hear about someone who also brings warmth and friendliness to the table. And let's not forget to give a well-deserved round of applause to his CFI, Nik Joshi! The mentorship and guidance of a CFI are invaluable on a pilot's journey. Congratulations again to Adam and Nik for this remarkable achievement!

ADAM CHIAMULON – SOLO

Big applause to Mike Atencio, who took the skies solo on Runway 24 at Silver Springs today! Quite the milestone, Mike, and we're thrilled for you! Now, speaking of high-flying hobbies, did you know Mike's not just a pilot? He's also a golf fanatic, and he's taken it to the next level by setting up a golf simulator in his living room. That's some serious dedication to the game! And let's not forget, Mike's better half is a golf pro too. It seems like flying and golf go hand and hand. On top of all that, Mike's a renowned local dentist. So, if you ever need some in-flight dental advice, he's your guy! Mike, your solo flight is a fantastic achievement, and we're cheering you on. Big "props" to your CFI, Austin White, too! Keep reaching for the skies, Mike!
